KANSAS INDUSTRIAL COURT IS WIPED OUT

U. S. SUPREME COURT IN WIDE DECISION GIVEN

COURT FOSTERED BY FORMER GOVERNOR ALLEN HAS ALL PHASES DESTROYED

WAS CAUSE OF BITTER STRIFE BETWEEN CAPITAL AND LABOR

(By United Press)
Topeka, Kansas, April 14.—The Kansas Industrial Court held unconstitutional in part by the United States Supreme Court has practically been wiped out by the decision, it is believed here today.

The court fostered by former Governor Henry Allen during the coal strike in Kansas has had all its phases destroyed.

But during its existence it was the cause of bitter strife between capital and labor and was the storm center of political activities in state elections. Alexander Howett, union mine leader, spent nearly a year in jail because he defied its order. Later he carried his fight to the supreme court. The employers began their fight against the Industrial Court when the latter undertook to enforce an order requiring the Wolff Packing Company of Topeka to increase wages. Within the last two years, the court practically has been a dead law as there have been no important cases before it.

SOCIALIST COUNCIL IS ANTAGONISTIC

Paris, April 14.—The national socialist council voted this afternoon against participation in a government headed by Aristide Briand. Simultaneously the United Press learned that Briand had decided not to accept the premiership unless the socialists participated in the cabinet. Accordingly, President Doumergue is expected to offer the premiership to some other statesman.

COMPLETE HARMONY AMONG DEMOCRATS

NO FACTIONAL FIGHTS DEVELOPED AT KANSAS CITY, MO. DINNERS

(By United Press)
Kansas City, Mo., April 14.—Complete harmony prevailed at the Jefferson Day dinners given here last night by the Jefferson Democratic Club and Young Men's Democratic Club and addressed by both party's leaders from various parts of the country. Reports that the dinners—one given by women democrats and the other by young men of the party—were to develop into factional scraps were proven false by the spirit of the "love feasts." Jeffersonian doctrines were expounded by the speakers who urged a united democracy and a return to the principles of Thomas Jefferson. There were no outbreaks by supporters of William G. McAdoo or Governor Al Smith.

EX-KAISER HAS NO SYMPATHY FOR MARSHAL'S PRESIDENTIAL ASPIRATIONS

WILHELM STILL CLINGS TO HIS TITLE, "IMPERIAL MAJESTY"

(By United Press)
London, April 14.—In one of the few direct communications to the outside world authorized by the former German kaiser since his exile in Doorn, Wilhelm Hohenzollern today informed the United Press that he was not supporting the presidential aspirations of General Hindenburg and inferred that he had not released the former Field Marshal from his oath of allegiance to the throne.

This information came first hand from Col. Kleist, acting chief of the former kaiser, and it was noticeable that Wilhelm clung to his imperial title, referring to himself as his "Imperial Majesty."

Hindenburg, the former kaiser said, has not received counsel or communication from Wilhelm concerning the presidency.

"The German press has published this as final, so no further communications will be forthcoming," the communication said.

The Edison dam held a six mile artificial lake which rushed through a 150-foot break during the night.

Guards at the gate phoned ample warning to state troopers who notified all residents in the valley. Only one small shack below the Edison dam is known to have been swept away. Several others are surrounded by water. The Ford Motor Company dam here opened its immense safety gate and permitted flood waters to pass on towards Lake Erie, seven miles distant. Sergeant Orville Jackson of the state police, reported that he and a companion rescued a family of eight surrounded by water near Rockwood.

Jackson said he saw several sheds, rafts, boat houses and other driftwood flowing down stream at a rate of ten miles an hour. Except for sweeping a newly constructed road, he saw no spectacular damage done.

SON BECOMES FATHER'S BROTHER-IN-LAW WHEN DAD WEDS WIFE'S KIN

It's a wise father who knows his own son.

Especially if said son happens, by a series of circumstances to be, at the same time, his father's brother-in-law, and the son's wife is both daughter-in-law and sister-in-law to her father-in-law. Further complications make the father's wife both mother-in-law and sister-in-law to the son.

Such is the situation in which Harvey A. Blodgett, president Brown & Blodgett, found himself Saturday night after marrying Miss Mary Watson.

SHEIKS OF LONDON OUTSHINE WOMEN IN LONDON EASTER SHOW

These expansive breeches were dove-colored, lavender or butternut brown and were worn with dark brown or blue coats. Some men wore harmonious handkerchiefs tucked between their vest and shirt.

Commenting on these styles, newspapers say they are a sufficient explanation of Britain's declining prestige in sports.

Women wore knee length skirts and broad brimmed hats with brown and tan the favorite colors.

Washington, April 14.—American women are surprisingly ignorant of the finer points of shopping for meats, the Department of Agriculture has found in a house to house survey of consumers of represented cities.

Most of the wives interviewed were able to mention only two or three cuts of steak they could recognize and the average number of roasts they were familiar with was less than two of the dozen or more varieties.

Five cities where these and other tests were made were not named by the department, but 16 cities where a most extensive survey will be conducted and 5,000 housewives interviewed, were announced. They include Minneapolis, Fargo, Grand Forks, Lincoln, Oklahoma City, Denver and San Francisco. The survey will be advanced about July 1.

Minneapolis, April 14.—The Pauly Hotel and several adjoining stores were damaged by fire which started in the basement under the hotel last night.

EFFORT TO IMPEACH GLEEMAN BROTHERS

TESTIMONY OF FIRST TRIAL TO BE READ INTO THE RECORDS

(By United Press)
St. Paul, April 14.—By their own testimony the state today moved to trap Ben and Abe Gleeman on trial for the murder of Burt Stevens.

Pierce Butler, Jr., prosecutor, won a twenty minute battle over admission of the testimony of the Gleeman brothers at their first trial and began reading it into the records of the trial. It will be used in an effort to impeach them by their own words.

SHEIKS OF LONDON OUTSHINE WOMEN IN LONDON EASTER SHOW

London, April 14.—Affecting such foppishness as balloon trousers, male dandies outshone the women in Hyde Park's Easter march.

These expansive breeches were dove-colored, lavender or butternut brown and were worn with dark brown or blue coats. Some men wore harmonious handkerchiefs tucked between their vest and shirt.

Commenting on these styles, newspapers say they are a sufficient explanation of Britain's declining prestige in sports.

Women wore knee length skirts and broad brimmed hats with brown and tan the favorite colors.

SENATOR ROCKNE MUSTERS VOTES FOR THE MOVE

AIMS TO KEEP BOARD OF CONTROL OUT OF REORGANIZATION PLAN

RECENT HOUSE BILL WAS SATISFACTORY TO THE GOVERNOR

(By United Press)
St. Paul, April 14.—Senator A. J. Rockne, administration foe, is reported to have mustered sufficient votes in the conference committee today to send the reorganization bill back to the house of the legislature. Senator Rockne is a member of the conference committee and has been a leader in the fight to keep the board of control out of the reorganization plan.

Reports at the Capitol today prior to the meeting of the conference committee were that with the absence of one or two senators favorable to the governor's reorganization plan, Senator Rockne will have votes enough to refuse to concur in the house bill and block any changes in the senate measure which now leaves the control board out of the reorganization plan. The house bill includes the control board and is satisfactory to Governor Theodore Christianson.

SMALLPOX HITS "LIVING BUDDHA" AT PEKIN HOME

THOUSANDS OF FOREIGNERS WHO PAID EASTER CALLS, WERE EXPOSED

SPIRITUAL HEAD OF WORLD OF BUDDHISM HAS MILD CASE

(By United Press)
Peking, April 14.—Smallpox has broken out in the Peking headquarters of the Tibetan Panchan Lama, spiritual head of the world Buddhism. Thousands of foreigners who paid Easter calls, including many prominent American tourists abroad the Cunard liner, San Antonio, were exposed, but no cases have been reported among them.

The "Living Buddha" as the Lama is called, is understood to have a mild case.

Representatives of all religions in Peking called at Lama's headquarters on Easter Sunday to greet the "Living Buddha." The international institute of China of which Gilbert Reid is president was largely represented and Reid himself delivered an address of welcome.

The headquarters where the smallpox is prevalent are in the grounds of the former interior palace. Many members of the diplomatic corp were exposed Sunday.

A. N. JACOBS IS CHARGED WITH LIBEL

SENATOR MAGNUS JOHNSON SAYS HIS CHARACTER WAS MALIGNED

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, April 14.—A. N. Jacobs, arraigned before Municipal Judge Manley F. Fosseen today on a charge of criminal libel preferred by Magnus Johnson, was bound over to District Court and will be given a preliminary hearing at 10 A. M. tomorrow.

Jacobs is alleged by the former U. S. Senator to have maligned his character in the senatorial campaign last fall in which Senator Thomas D. Schall was victorious. Jacobs was Schall's campaign manager.

NORWAY PICTURED

Scenes of the North Coupled With Movie "A Man There Was" Gardner Auditorium

Norway in motion pictures and a wonderful, gripping sea story, "A Man There Was" are to be shown on Wednesday, April 15th, in the Gardner auditorium, at 8:30 o'clock p. m.

Wherever the pictures of Norway have been shown they have drawn record audiences, and of such a character that many were taken back in memory to their native country, to the scenes of their childhood.

"A Man There Was" is a Swedish motion picture, starring Victor Sjöström, a great Scandinavian artist, director and actor. It is said to contain a climax never before reached in this type of film.

In addition to the pictures, which are alone worth the effort of attending, there will be special Scandinavian music, furnished by two accomplished accordion players, who bring back the songs and music of Norway and Sweden.

This program offers a real treat in the form of interesting and instructive entertainment, and it is hoped that a large number will take advantage of the opportunity and be in attendance.

CHILD GUIDANCE CLINIC OPENED

Under Direction of Specialists From the University of Minnesota

CONTINUES TO WEDNESDAY

On Thursday and Friday the Clinic Will be Continued in Crosby

The child guidance clinic, under the direction of specialists from the University of Minnesota, opened at the court house on Monday, and will continue through Tuesday and Wednesday. On Thursday and Friday the clinic will be continued in Crosby.

Mr. Turney, psychologist, and Miss Lila McNutt, both of the child guidance clinic, psychiatric division of the University, were in charge of the local clinic on Monday. Dr. Stevenson, head of the division, arrived on Monday evening, and will be in charge during the balance of the week. Mr. Turney and Miss McNutt assisting.

This clinic is held for the purpose of assisting parents in solving child problems in cases where their children are developing along wrong lines, or whose cases are not understood by the parents. Similar clinics have been held throughout the state recently with exceptionally good success, bringing about a better understanding between parents and children, and solving a number of difficult problems with which parents had been unable to cope.

Miss McNutt is giving a series of lectures each afternoon during the Brainerd clinics at the Whittier school. These lectures start at four o'clock and are open to all who are interested in child guidance.

At Crosby Dr. Stevenson will give a public address on Thursday evening which will be of special interest to parents.

This is the first clinic of its kind held in Brainerd, but it has been accorded an exceptional welcome. Sufficient cases were registered two weeks ago to fill the clinic during its three days in the city, and the two days at Crosby.

It is hoped that sufficient interest will be displayed to hold another clinic this coming autumn, and all parents who have children whom they would like to have go through such a clinic are asked to communicate either with the local executive of the child welfare board or the psychiatric division of the University.

Strictly a Ford schedule is used in making our charges for repair work. You can charge it at Lively's.

PARK BOARD SPRING CLEANUP

Flower Beds of Gregory Park Prepared to Make This City's Beauty Spot

TOURIST PARK OPENS MAY 20

Lum Park to Have Many Improvements Made There

The Brainerd Park Board has started its annual housecleaning, in preparation of the parks for the coming season. Today a man was employed to clean up Gregory park, prepare flower beds and place this central beauty spot in order for the summer.

Lum park and the tourist park will be taken in their turn and will be put in shape for the opening of their respective seasons. A man has been working at Lum park during the winter clearing and grubbing in the new addition. About five acres have been laid out skirting the park, and will be completed as soon as possible.

The Brainerd Elks lodge will open Lum park about the middle of May with a send-off that will give this popular amusement place added impetus throughout the entire season. The park was especially well patronized last season, and the board is looking for an even greater patronage this year.

The tourist park will open about May 20th this year, according to the park board's present plans. This is a little earlier than usual, but it is felt that one of the greatest tourist seasons that this section has yet known is in prospect this year, and the board plans to be ready to meet the situation.

Lloyd Lewis, who had charge of the tourist park the latter part of last year, has been engaged for the same position this season, and is to be assisted by Fred Parks. Several improvements are being planned at this park, to include more toilet facilities and an increase in table and stove room.

The park board hopes to make the Brainerd parks the finest of their kinds in this section of the state, and asks the cooperation of the public in assisting to keep the parks in that condition after the clean-up program has been completed.

PARK BOARD SPRING CLEANUP

Flower Beds of Gregory Park Prepared to Make This City's Beauty Spot

TOURIST PARK OPENS MAY 20

Lum Park to Have Many Improvements Made
There

The Brainerd Park Board has started its annual housecleaning, in preparation of the parks for the coming season. Today a man was employed to clean up Gregory park, prepare flower beds and place this central beauty spot in order for the summer.

Lum park and the tourist park will be taken in their turn and will be put in shape for the opening of their respective seasons. A man has been working at Lum park during the winter clearing and grubbing in the new addition. About five acres have been so cleared. The new road has been laid out skirting the park, and will be completed as soon as possible.

The Brainerd Elks lodge will open
Lum park about the middle of May with a send-off that will give this popular amusement place added impetus throughout the entire season.
The park was especially well patronized last season, and the board is looking for an even greater patronage this year.

The tourist park will open about May 20th this year, according to the park board's present plans. This is a little earlier than usual, but it is felt that one of the greatest tourist seasons that this section has yet known is in prospect this year, and the board plans to be ready to meet the situation.

Lloyd Lewis, who had charge of the tourist park the latter part of last year, has been engaged for the same position this season, and is to be assisted by Fred Parks. Several improvements are being planned at this park, to include more toilet facilities and an increase in table and stove room.

The park board hopes to make the Brainerd parks the finest of their kinds in this section of the state, and asks the cooperation of the public in assisting to keep the parks in that condition after the clean-up program has been completed.

BETTER CITIZENSHIP

We saw a pamphlet the other day, originated by the Department of the Interior, Bureau of Education, which was remarkable because of its brevity and the important theme discussed. The average government document runs to 20 pages or more and is so extensive in its ramifications as to cause the wayfarer to lose interest in the subject.

But this one, entitled, "An Opportunity for the Promotion of Better Citizenship," is different, and we quote some of it:

The United States is prosperous.

The people of the United States are 6 per cent of the world's population; yet, though we are thus outnumbered 16 to 1—

We own nearly half the railroad mileage and almost three-fourths of the telephone equipment in the world;

We consume more than half the world's output of coal, iron, steel, copper, petroleum, cotton, timber, and printing paper;

We own nine out of every ten automobiles in the world—

But—only half of our eligible voters actually vote even at the presidential elections;

Five millions of our people over 10 years of age are illiterate;

Ten millions of our children of school age are not attending school;

We spend more for tobacco, cosmetics, and chewing gum than we do for education;

Half of our young men were found physically unfit for unlimited military service;

Our wage earners lose wages amounting to over two billion dollars a year because of preventable sickness;

In 1900 the number of homicides per 100,000 population in cities was 3.5. Now it is 9.3.

In 1870 there was one divorce for every 18 marriages. Last year there was one divorce for every eight marriages.

More than 2,000 voluntary organizations in this country are working, each in its own way, to develop better citizenship and higher standards of civic life.

Our national experience during the war illustrated how a great common purpose released national energy, inspired forgetfulness of personal interests, and caused men to sacrifice individual ambition and to work without limit for the achievement of a common objective. We are the same people that we were during the war. We are, however, no longer working together with the eagerness for national service that marked our war-time activities. The reason for this is not that we have changed as a people, nor because we have lost our national spirit, but rather because we are not aware of a clearly defined single objective which inspires all to coordinated action and team play for the common welfare.

Our ideals and objectives are expressed in the preamble to the Constitution. Realizing that the achievement of these national objectives requires their interpretation in terms of practical daily experiences and that mutual understanding and cooperation among the administrative departments of the Federal Government are essential to effective service in this matter, President Harding, in February, 1923, with the unanimous concurrence of all members of the Cabinet, issued an executive order establishing the Federal Council of Citizenship Training. The council is composed of men in the Government service who are actively engaged in administering offices that deal with particular phases of citizenship training.

The sad development in this country is that native-born Americans are slack in their citizenship and many do not regard it as implying a line of duty and view it with less appreciation than the foreign-born, who take up citizenship with a deep realization that it means a most precious thing in their lives.

There is more to citizenship than paying taxes and living in a country. There are duties to perform and the paramount of these is voting at the polls.

COMMUNITY TIDINESS

THE DISPATCH has proclaimed the value of a physical clean-up of the city, cleaning streets and alleys and backyards, carting away ash and tin can piles. This, of course, is a prosaic way of alluding to a cleanup.

Under the heading of "Now for Community Tidiness," the Minneapolis Tribune states: "This is the week when the city (Minneapolis) is to have its community bath, so to speak. It is to be cleaned behind the ears. It is to take on its 'permanent wave.' Its soiled habiliments are to be laundered and freshened up for health as well as for looks. This does not mean that there is to be done for the city only what the man does for himself when he shifts his cuffs so that the tidy side is fore and the untidy side aft. It is purposed that both sides or ends of the cuffs shall be clean.

"There is nothing philanthropic about this cleansing process. It is simply a consideration of health and pride and economics. Tidiness enhances the salable value of property. When pursued as a community habit it makes the work worth while if only as a protection against fire and a means of reducing fire insurance rates. Tidiness lessens the menace of germ diseases. It is a virtue a man owes to himself and to his neighbors. It increases his own self-respect and the happiness and comfort of others. These results are good enough to spend money and to apply muscle for."

THE 50 cents a ton cut in iron ore prices at the lower lake ports, as set by the first sales reported at Cleveland, does not have an enthusiastic reaction on the iron ore business. Underground mines are at a disadvantage and may not be able to cope with such a price cut.

THE claim is made that the airplane tail spin treatment for deafness is an efficacious one. It may be, providing the 16,000 feet drop prescribed does not flatten out on the earth.

THIS section had a light rainfall Sunday night which helped to extinguish brush fires and was gratefully absorbed by the dry ground.

OFFICERS of automobile clubs say 1925 will be the greatest motor touring season in history.

AFTER Wednesday, 1924 license plates on a car driven in Minnesota are taboo.

CAMPFIRE GIRLS

Will Give Play "Miss Fearless & Co."
Friday Evening,
April 24

IN BASEMENT M. E. CHURCH

Proceeds Are to be Used in Financing the Girls' Summer Camp

The Tatapocho Campfire Girls are giving a play, "Miss Fearless & Co." on Friday evening, April 24th, in the basement of the Methodist church, the proceeds of which are to be used in financing the girls' summer camp. "Miss Fearless & Co." is a three act comedy, containing several side-splitting climaxes. The characters require a talented and carefully trained cast, to portray, and Miss Marie Adair, who is directing the production, has chosen her juvenile actors well.

Among these characters are three who stand out especially strong: a typical old maid, who finally has a wonderful love affair; the country cousin, very matter of fact; and the Irish maid, exceptionally emotional and superstitious.

All who believe in spooks are warned against attending this play, for a part of the story is set on a spooky island, amid the spookiest of spooky surroundings. However, the phantom is finally captured, for which the maid is devoutly thankful, and all ends well. Many other amusing situations occur, which keeps the audience on the edge of its seat and gasping for more breath to negotiate the next big laugh.

The Campfire girls have already started their ticket sale for "Miss Fearless & Co." and will appreciate the support of the public in making their effort a big success, thus assuring the summer camp for the coming season.

BETTER CITIZENSHIP

We saw a pamphlet the other day, originated by the Department of the Interior, Bureau of Education, which was remarkable because of its brevity and the important theme discussed. The average government document runs to 20 pages or more and is so extensive in its ramifications as to cause the wayfarer to lose interest in the subject.

But this one, entitled, "An Opportunity for the Promotion of Better Citizenship," is different, and we quote some of it:

The United States is prosperous.

The people of the United States are 6 per cent of the world's population; yet, though we are thus outnumbered 16 to 1—

We own nearly half the railroad mileage and almost three-fourths of the telephone equipment in the world;

We consume more than half the world's output of coal, iron, steel, copper, petroleum, cotton, timber, and printing paper;

We own nine out of every ten automobiles in the world—

But—only half of our eligible voters actually vote even at the presidential elections;

Five millions of our people over 10 years of age are illiterate; Ten millions of our children of school age are not attending school;

We spend more for tobacco, cosmetics, and chewing gum than we do for education;

Half of our young men were found physically unfit for unlimited military service;

Our wage earners lose wages amounting to over two billion dollars a year because of preventable sickness;

In 1900 the number of homicides per 100,000 population in cities was 3.5. Now it is 9.3.

In 1870 there was one divorce for every 18 marriages. Last year there was one divorce for every eight marriages.

More than 2,000 voluntary organizations in this country are working, each in its own way, to develop better citizenship and higher standards of civic life.

Our national experience during the war illustrated how a great common purpose released national energy, inspired forgetfulness of personal interests, and caused men to sacrifice individual ambition and to work without limit for the achievement of a common objective. We are the same people that we were during the war. We are, however, no longer working together with the eagerness for national service that marked our war-time activities. The reason for this is not that we have changed as a people, nor because we have lost our national spirit, but rather because we are not aware of a clearly defined single objective which inspires all to coordinated action and team play for the common welfare.

Our ideals and objectives are expressed in the preamble to the Constitution. Realizing that the achievement of these national objectives requires their interpretation in terms of practical daily experiences and that mutual understanding and cooperation among the administrative departments of the Federal Government are essential to effective service in this matter, President Harding, in February, 1923, with the unanimous concurrence of all members of the Cabinet, issued an executive order establishing the Federal Council of Citizenship Training. The council is composed of men in the Government service who are actively engaged in administering offices that deal with particular phases of citizenship training.

The sad development in this country is that native-born Americans are slack in their citizenship and many do not regard it as implying a line of duty and view it with less appreciation than the foreign-born, who take up citizenship with a deep realization that it means a most precious thing in their lives.

There is more to citizenship than paying taxes and living in a country. There are duties to perform and the paramount of these is voting at the polls.

COMMUNITY TIDINESS

THE DISPATCH has proclaimed the value of a physical clean-up of the city, cleaning streets and alleys and backyards, carting away ash and tin can piles. This, of course, is a prosaic way of alluding to a clean-up.

Under the heading of "Now for Community Tidiness," the Minneapolis Tribune states: "This is the week when the city (Minneapolis) is to have its community bath, so to speak. It is to be cleaned behind the ears. It is to take on its 'permanent wave.' Its soiled habiliments are to be laundered and freshened up for health as well as for looks. This does not mean that there is to be done for the city only what the man does for himself when he shifts his cuffs so that the tidy side is fore and the untidy side aft. It is purposed that both sides or ends of the cuffs shall be clean."

"There is nothing philanthropic about this cleansing process. It is simply a consideration of health and pride and economics. Tidiness enhances the salable value of property. When pursued as a community habit it makes the work worth while if only as a protection against fire and a means of reducing fire insurance rates. Tidiness lessens the menace of germ diseases. It is a virtue a man owes to himself and to his neighbors. It increases his own self-respect and the happiness and comfort of others. These results are good enough to spend money and to apply muscle for."

THE 50 cents a ton cut in iron ore prices at the lower lake ports, as set by the first sales reported at Cleveland, does not have an enthusiastic reaction on the iron ore business. Underground mines are at a disadvantage and may not be able to cope with such a price cut.

THE claim is made that the airplane tail spin treatment for deafness is an efficacious one. It may be, providing the 16,000 feet drop prescribed does not flatten out on the earth.

THIS section had a light rainfall Sunday night which helped to extinguish brush fires and was gratefully absorbed by the dry ground.

OFFICERS of automobile clubs say 1925 will be the greatest motor touring season in history.

AFTER Wednesday, 1924 license plates on a car driven in Minnesota are taboo.

IN BASEMENT M. E. CHURCH

Proceeds Are to be Used in Financing the Girls' Summer Camp

The Tatapochoon Campfire Girls are giving a play, "Miss Fearless & Co." on Friday evening, April 24th, in the basement of the Methodist church, the proceeds of which are to be used in financing the girls' summer camp. "Miss Fearless & Co." is a three act comedy, containing several side-splitting climaxes. The characters require a talented and carefully trained cast, to portray, and Miss Marie Adair, who is directing the production, has chosen her juvenile actors well.

Among these characters are three who stand out especially strong: a typical old maid, who finally has a wonderful love affair; the country cousin, very matter of fact; and the Irish maid, exceptionally emotional and superstitious.

All who believe in spooks are warned against attending this play, for a part of the story is set on a spooky island, amid the spookiest of spooky surroundings. However, the phantom is finally captured, for which the maid is devoutly thankful, and all ends well. Many other amusing situations occur, which keep the audience on the edge of its seat and gasping for more breath to negotiate the next big laugh.

The Campfire girls have already started their ticket sale for "Miss Fearless & Co." and will appreciate the support of the public in making their effort a big success, thus assuring the summer camp for the coming season.

BRAINONIAN

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY THE STUDENTS OF BRAINERD HIGH SCHOOL

SENIOR DRESS-UP DAY SAW MANY
GORGEIOUS COSTUMES AND FINERY

Senior dress-up day in all its magnificence and glory was held Thursday, April ninth. It was a near hundred per cent turn-out of costumed people and to quote the Dispatch, "costumes were worn of the vintage of 1840 and other years of the dim and musty past."

The day began when flustered seniors, hurriedly, and with shy countenances "ducked" into school away from the curious, scrutinizing and inquiring glances of the townspeople, who did not as yet seem to comprehend that this day of days was Senior Dress-up Day.

The morning was spent—informally in singing songs, admiring one another's costumes, studying and gym, in which last, had any of the former owners of the gowns been present she would have been shocked at the "frail and delicate" girls playing the altogether tomboyish game of baseball. The more modest souls, loathe to again predominate the thoroughfares of the city in their quaint regalia wended their way to Ma Billings where they partook of their noon day lunch of candy, pop and gum. Then Miss Tornstrom appeared with the camera and the belles with wasp-like waists, grand opera bandits, tramps, and the like, posed to have their likenesses and finery snapped and imprinted on rolls of film so that the succeeding generations would be duly impressed with the grandeur of the day! In the afternoon a short program was given which was heralded by a grand march of the entire class around the assembly and concluding on the platform where the Seniors sang a class verse composed for the occasion.

Sweet Adeline, and finishing with the customary "three cheers." Readings were given by the Misses Margaret Anderson, Ruth Perlman and Alfreda Zawadzki and a presentation of the favorite Virginia Reel was given by a group of those given to tripping the light fantastic, accompanied by the class pianist, Lorraine Morrison and—"a good time was had by all."

Review of Costumes

Note—For miscellaneous reasons it is impossible to review everyone's costume, so it is with great brevity that even the most striking and ancient are written up. The rules for dress-up day were that the girls should wear old fashioned clothes and the boys to wear anything that was radically different from their regular civilian apparel, so here goes.

The honors for the most beautiful gowns seems to fall between those of Dorothy Quinlan, Margaret Anderson and Elizabeth Folsom. Dorothy's was of gray material, ornamented with beautiful lace and exquisite colored embroidery, while the skirt, which was five yards in width, was completed by a graceful train. Margaret Anderson wore one of green material resembling modern fish scales, with ruffles n' everything. Margaret looked adorable and her costume was completed by a gray crinoline jacket, topped off by an immense leghorn hat covered with daisies. Elizabeth wore a charming creation of striped silk having a bustle and all the other perquisites of old-fashionedness. She also wore a gold band ring and hair bracelet both having been ultra fashionable in their day.

Change the proverb to "Boys will be girls," and you have Bill Opsahl and Middy Bergstrand. Bill was especially dear in his outfit and he had everything too, even the rolled socks and m-m-m garters. Our personal opinion is that he'd make a mighty good looking girl. Middy was a perfect flapper of the vamp type, who during the Virginia Reel had the "funny" misfortune of slipping full length on the floor because of the too French heels, but nevertheless, undaunted, tried to vamp all the boys from Martius Seger (the kind you'd like to kiss) sailor boy, to the villainous looking Jew, Albert Rathert, who, with his cane, striped vest, black mustache, goatee and eye glasses, was a "ferce" sight indeed.

A good adjective for Vivian Gillette was "beautiful." Her hair was powdered to just the right degree to make her irresistible. Oh, if only Flo Ziegfeld had been here! Speaking of Steve reminds us of Dick who came as a successful gold miner of 1849, for he had a bag full of gold—saw-dust—which he generously distributed, but his clothes—were successfully ornamented with—holes. Poor Dick!

Lorraine Morrison and Ruth Perlman were belles from some southern plantation. Ruth was sweet in a yellow black lace trimmed bouffant affair with bonnet to match, while Lorraine appeared in pink with a scarf to hide the low cut V-neck in back. Another Southerner was Jeanette Jackson, who was the sole impersonator of the popular Martha Washington.

Rose Hogan could have been termed Little Brown Riding Hood and a large agate brooch that was in harmony with her costume boasted the old age of two hundred years.

Agnes Templeton was one of the few that possessed a hoop skirt and the difficulty with which she traversed the aisles of the assembly created much amusement.

Bernice White, Sophie Brending, and Sylvia Gordon were the "unfortunate" possessors of bustles—ask them about it.

Some "comical" hats were worn by Myrtis Mayo, Myla Trask, Genevieve Meade, etc., each having a different type. Myrtis' hat was strictly tailored stiff and mannish with a feather or its only adornment while Myla possessed a small hat with a feather at the end of a quill resembling a five dollar bill on the top of a greased pole, while Genevieve wore one of the washtub variety, bedecked with white roses.

Dolphine Winter was a perfect scream, dressed in a pleasing serge suit of a more or less ante-diluvian design with black fox muff and neckpiece. Her picture hat was, as she expressed it, "two pancakes sewed together," this piece of unique head gear making her a daring vamp. "Nuff said."

Ab—another boy would be a girl—Harry Drake—he came with golden curls, bonnet and all the other necessary paraphernalia. "Who would a thunk it?"

We bet Thomas Larkin, treasurer of the Seniors, tried to imitate King George's Secretary of the Exchequer with knee breeches and everything, but to us he was a very successful imitation of a mama's boy, one that wears those large blue bow neckties, dontcha know—maybe he wore it on purpose—the blue just matched his eyes!

Several ministers were predominant, notably Gery Schrader and Joel Philstrom and a bride's part could easily have been taken by Florence Swanson, who wore a beautiful white wedding dress of a quarter century ago, and the musketeers and pirates such as Clifford Gustafson, Owen Swanson, Wendell Burns, Francis George and Harold Hilliard would have made daring Prince Charmings. Gladys Babcock and Gertrude Link presumably owned the most antiquated of all costumes, they are indescribable, but be it known, they had everything that composes a truly old fashioned outfit.

Pantalette honors were carried off by Mardelle Mraz and Hazel Lind. Mardelle was all in pink with a pray bonnet and her whole costume seemed to portray "fluffy ruffles." Hazel appeared in various colors in which yellow seemed to hold most sway with green parrots to perfect a harmonious whole.

The Hall sisters, Marion and Lois, par usual, came out in attire appropriate for the occasion, rare lace trimmed skirts and tight jackets being the main points of attraction.

Milton Hill was indeed noteworthy, inasmuch as he had an artificial red nose and an altogether slouchy appearance, corn cob pipe, etc. Another pipe that he held in his mouth was attached to an alarm clock which, when attacked by the vehement wind of his lungs coming through the aforesaid pipe, caused the alarm clock to emit very supernatural and mysterious sounds, causing the Seniors to go off into gales of laughter.

Senior—"Why are you hurrying so with your theme? It is class time yet."

Freshie—"I know it, but I'm trying to finish before my pen runs dry."

My Dog and I

I was dreamily walking down the cement avenue leading Hamiltonian, my Siberian cheeshound. Suddenly the double doors of a large edifice burst open and hundreds of children of various sizes came rushing forth.

They paid not the slightest attention to me but hurried down the street, halloing, laughing, chattering, until my ears rang. I stood undecided and then followed Hamiltonian's lead and ran pell-mell after the crowd. We arrived at another building much like the first. It was the old B. H. S. We scrambled up flights of stairs, narrowly missing, overthrowing some persons who were descending them. Finally we came to a narrow black door and as I waited for the foremost children to crowd in, I scanned the eager faces. Meanwhile I caught such words and phrases as these, "Gee, hope we win!" "Wonder if Bill is gonna play center. He's best." "Be sure and yell!" More children were arriving all the time and finally we were through the door. Hamiltonian rather resembled a pancake but a few pats restored him to his usual shape. Again we followed the crowd. We were in the gym.

I happened to glance from a window—more children were coming from all directions, running, roller-skating and on bicycles. At last we were seated. There was some confusion when my dear companion accidentally thrust his tail in the open mouth of a rather impudent child who bit it.

We were just settled when a group of youngsters, clad in abbreviated costumes rushed in and went through mysterious motions with a ball. There was much excitement and yelling from all around. I was quite up in the air about it until suddenly I remembered my trusty Annual. I had carried it with me on all my travels to remind me of my old class in B. H. S. I took one glance at it and I saw the magic word, basketball! Of course, it was the grade tournament. Then I threw myself into the spirit of the game and yelled with the rest. Once I was aroused by a poke in the ear from Hamiltonian's wet nose. He was sorrowfully gazing at a little girl who was "naking faces" at the children on the other side. But my attention was again attracted to the game, for another basket had been made. When at last the games were over, we piled out of the school, making more noise than ever and planning to be back the next night.

Who, What and Where

The Senior group pictures are ready for those who ordered them, at Gorham's.

Harry Lyndon, the estimable president of the Seniors, had an attack of the "mumps," causing Walter Engbretson to have to take over the presidential duties at class meetings. Wally was also absent Thursday, and Myla Trask, next in official rank, had to preside at the assembly program. What is the class coming to?

The general handshaking and "helloing" in the halls and on the campus last Wednesday was evidence enough that Middy and Dick were back from the west. They informed us that the latest edition of the Brainonian even found its welcome way to that remote and distant land.

Frosh and Senior alike are deep in the throes of writing W. C. T. U. essays, the only difference being that this is the first attempt on the part of the Freshies while the fourth for the Seniors.

Sylvia Gordon "informally" graduated at Christmas but we were glad to see her back Senior Dress Up Day "with bells on."

Junior Class Day candy sale was held yesterday, a complete account of which will appear in next week's Brainonian.

Albert Rathert announces that there are still a number of group pictures of the different organizations and athletic teams which can be had at reasonable rates while they last.

Why not include one of last year's annuals when buying this year's and present it to a friend? We are selling the 1924 Brainonian for fifty cents.

GYM CLASS ON
DRESS UP DAY

There was a shrill blow from Miss Jorandby's whistle and the third period gym class lined up on the howling green for roll call. It was Senior dress up day and quaint old-fashioned girls with powdered hair, wide skirts, leg o' mutton sleeves, and bustles were out for their daily practice in baseball and volley ball. The sides being divided, one repaired to the net, while the other took their places on the diamond. Imagine the surprise and wonder of the passerby on perceiving these demure little maidens of '65 tripping lightly around the diamond on a home run.

And when the ball landed way off in some remote corner of the yard, the fielder, grasping her flowing skirts with one hand and her picturesque hat with the other, ran after it. The volley ball players did not have any running to do, but batting the ball over the net took lots of strength and, consequently, the exertion knocked off many a miss's feathered bonnet. High heels and lengthy skirts also proved to be cumbersome to the twentieth century, masqueraders. But the climax came only when our gym teacher lined us up for a march around the block. Heads appeared in all the windows and many cars stopped by the curb so the occupants might have a better view of these maids. Then the bell rang and immediately every lass showed that she was not an old-fashioned flower but a twentieth century flapper, by producing a dainty vanity box and using the contents to remove all traces of shininess.

After Life

Ah—'tis over—I am glad—it still makes me shudder to think of it. Nigh a fortnight ago I was aroused from my slumber by someone who came lightly, tripping up the stairs to my abiding place, turned the key in the latch and caused the door to creak ever so slightly. My heart thumped. Perhaps now I was to be resurrected from my dungeon—to renew my days of triumph. I would see my mistress again and I should make her beautiful, as in the days of yore. I felt thrilled and expectant, the atmosphere became stifling, something was going to happen. A faint shaft of light pierced the darkness that enshrouded me and as the door was being opened wider and yet wider I found myself recovering from a moment of dazed blindness and beholding the world and—Her! She appeared so strange that I gasped and lay blinking and staring at her while she clapped her hands and exclaimed, "Hot Stuff! Isn't this the berries?" I gasped some more! I must be under some witches' power; no mortal ever spoke like that before. She took me out and held me at arm's length; meanwhile I had an opportunity to observe her more closely. I saw that the same gleam of satisfaction was in her eyes as of my old mistress when she had appeared with me for the first time; she also possessed the same mouth and hair, but where were the golden curls that had so often tumbled over my shoulders? No—yes, they had been snipped off! I nearly screamed when I saw the tragedy—and her gown, how queer—it had neither hoop, bustle, frill nor furberlow, and the length! Whisper it—I saw her ankles, and—and—then I swooned.

When I came to, everything previous seemed like a nightmare, for wasn't I beside my lovely mistress again and the very same curls were again resting on my shoulder. I hear her call, "good bye" and someone replied that they hoped she'd have a good time and, "you certainly look queer." At this revelation (it rather hurt my vanity) I perked up and looked my best but before long that new, quaky feeling reappeared for we did not step into a coin drawn by four prancing milk white horses, as formerly, but into something that resembled a green covered wagon with glass windows and it ran by itself! I settled back and sighed at the strangeness of it all.

We soon arrived at our destination for my mistress got out and we walked through an immense door into a large brick building—also strange. Everywhere, to my dismay, I recognized cousins and more cousins to the fifth and sixth generations, but nary a brother or sister. People came up and spoke to my mistress and they stared at me and fondled me until I gradually resumed my former spirits of yesteryear. I finally wearied of it all as did my mistress for when we came home she immediately sank into a chair and began to lay me aside. I must have begun seeing things again, for a woman with that horrible snipped hair appeared and pulled off—the curls of my mistress and sad but true, I again beheld—Her, with the short skirts and before I completely collapsed and expired, I heard her murmur—"Oh, mother, how could you ever stand to wear such a dress! But, nevertheless, I'm mighty glad you saved it for my Senior Dress Up Day."

GRADE SCHOOL TOURNEY ENDS WITH
LOWELL AS THE PENNANT WINNER

In an exciting game last night the Lowell won from the Harrison by a score of 6 to 2. The Harrison scored first, shortly afterward the Lowell scored; the half ended 2 to 2. In the next half the Lowell opened up and scored 4 more points. The Harrison was blanked this half. The defense of both teams was excellent. For the Lowell, Purdy, Guin, and Zawadzki played the best game; for the Harrison, Fenton and Sator starred.

The Line-up
Guin f. Fenton
Zawadzki c. Haufala, Capt.
Purdy, Capt. e. Sator
Stanley g. Hanson
Savageau g. Hay
Field goals—Fenton 1; Purdy 1; Zawadzki 1.
Free throws—Guin 2.

The Lincoln took the first game of the tournament from the Washington by a score of 7-5. The game was rather slow as neither team was in form. The feature of the game was the fast playing and the teamwork of the two Lincoln forwards.

In the second game of the tournament the Whittier beat the Harrison 4-3. This game was fast throughout, but the Harrison was unable to get started. This was the first game that the Harrison lost and came as a bitter pill to them.

For the third game of the tournament the Lowell walked away with Washington to the tune of 13-2. The Lowell was far superior and played all around the Washington. The lanky Lowell players completely smothered the Washington, taking the tip-off every time.

The Lincoln met defeat at the hands of the Harrison. The Harrison, with a partly changed line-up, was stronger than the previous night and did not give the Lincoln a chance.

The Lowell again walked off with a victory, this time from the Whittier, 23-7. The Whittier was handicapped by their small players getting but few chances to shoot.

Playing the second game in succession the Lowell met defeat at the hands of the Harrison, 18-6. The Lowell players were tired out from the previous game and were not given a fair chance. At the first half the score was 8-2 in favor of the Harrison. In the second half after the Lowell had had a rest they came back and scored two baskets and held the Harrison.

In one of the fastest games of the tournament the Whittier defeated the Washington, 5-4. At the end of the first half the score was 4-0 in favor of the Washington. In the last half the Whittier came back and scored five points and held the Washington scoreless.

In the eighth game of the tournament the Lowell walked away with the Lincoln, 14-2. In the first and last quarters the Lincoln completely outplayed the Lowell but were unable to count many baskets due to the size of the Lowell players.

In a one-sided affair the Harrison defeated the Washington to the tune of 14-4. The Harrison was far superior in teamwork and accurate shooting, the Washington at no time threatening the game.

In the last scheduled game of the tournament the Lincoln defeated the Whittier.

Below is the summary of the tournament:

	G.P.	G.L.	Pct.
Lowell	4	1	.750
Harrison	4	1	.750
Lincoln	4	2	.500
Whittier	4	2	.500

FIRST BASEBALL
GAME OF SEASON

At the N. P. ball grounds an unscheduled game of baseball was played between some high school girls and a team of boys from all over the city.

In the first inning the score stood 6 to 0 in the girls' favor. The boys seemed to be a little afraid of Turner's balls, but in the second inning they calmed themselves and made 2 scores while the girls didn't make any. In the third inning Turner fanned out three in succession and the girls made two more scores, making the final score 8 to 2. The boys are practicing hard and don't intend to let the girls' beat them again.

Baseball

Brainerd High School officially opened its baseball season last Tuesday night, when Coach Krueger issued the call for candidates.

Among the veterans who answered the call were Engbretson, Rosenberg, Larson, Whitlock and Swanson, and no doubt Lyndon will report as soon as he has recovered from his illness.

Among the new candidates who show promise of development are Marshall, Orth, Gabouri, Gile, Philstrom and Tribur, and from all indications the veterans of last year's nine will have to work hard to keep their positions on the team this season.

Having lost the regular pitchers, Zakariassen and Molstad, through graduation, Coach Krueger is confronted by the problem of developing new hurlers, which is far from being an easy task, since Van Walk, the only experienced pitcher available, has not as yet reported. Engbretson and Whitlock, however, show promise of developing into good moundmen as soon as they have had opportunity to acquire experience through practice.

The catching end is well taken care of by Larson, with Dieckhaus in reserve.

Swanson on third base and Rosenberg at short-stop show plenty of class and opposing teams will find it hard to hit through that side of the diamond. The out-field ought to cause little trouble, as several of the new recruits have shown their worth in chasing fly-balls.

On the whole, the team shows much promise and should have a successful season if the school and public give them the necessary support.

Our Assembly

Vacation is over. The studies are renewed by the refreshed, studious pupils.

On entering the building last Monday the students discovered that the painters had been hard at work. The new steel ceiling in the assembly was all painted, the walls were refinished in a new grey outfit, and the floors, the floors were scrubbed white as snow. This lovely Easter outfit of the assembly helped brighten up everything with the aid of the removing of the storm windows.

The windows are open and the real spring atmosphere prevails over all.

Mr. J.: "Katherine, what is aluminum hydroxide?"

Bill O.: "Opaque."

Mr. J.: "If you don't keep quiet! You ought to go down to the end of the hall and get some training along with the others. (Normal school, of course.)"

SENIOR DRESS-UP DAY SAW MANY GORGEOUS COSTUMES AND FINERY

Senior dress-up day in all its magnificence and glory was held Thursday, April ninth. It was a near hundred per cent turnout of costumed people and to quote the Dispatch, "costumes were worn of the vintage of 1840 and other years of the dim and musty past."

The day began when flustered seniors, hurriedly, and with shy countenances "ducked" into school away from the curious, scrutinizing and inquiring glances of the townspeople, who did not as yet seem to comprehend that this day of days was Senior Dress-up Day.

The morning was spent informally in singing songs, admiring one another's costumes, studying and gym, in which last, had any of the former owners of the gowns been present she would have been shocked at the "frail and delicate" girls playing the altogether tomboyish game of baseball. The more modest souls, loathe to again predominate the thoroughfares of the city in their quaint regalia wended their way to Ma Billings where they partook of their noon day lunch of candy, pop and gum. Then Miss Tornstrom appeared with the camera and the belles with wasp-like waists, grand opera bandits, tramps, and the like, posed to have their likenesses and finery snapped and imprinted on rolls of film so that the succeeding generations would be duly impressed with the grandeur of the day! In the afternoon a short program was given which was heralded by a grand march of the entire class around the assembly and concluding on the platform where the Seniors sang a class verse composed for the occasion, Sweet Adeline, and finishing with the customary "three cheers." Readings were given by the Misses Margaret Anderson, Ruth Perlman and Alfreda Zawadski and a presentation of the favorite Virginia Reef was given by a group of those given to tripping the light fantastic, accompanied by the class pianist, Lorraine Morrison and—"a good time was had by all."

Review of Costumes

Note—For miscellaneous reasons it is impossible to review everyone's costume, so it is with great brevity that even the most striking and ancient are written up. The rules for dress-up day were that the girls should wear old fashioned clothes and the boys to wear anything that was radically different from their regular civilian apparel, so here goes.

The honors for the most beautiful gowns seems to fall between those of Dorothy Quinlan, Margaret Anderson and Elizabeth Folsom. Dorothy's was of gray material, ornamented with beautiful lace and exquisite colored embroidery, while the skirt, which was five yards in width, was completed by a graceful train. Margaret Anderson wore one of green material resembling modern fish scales, with ruffles n' everything. Margaret looked adorable and her costume was completed by a gray crimmure jacket, topped off by an immense leghorn hat covered with daisies. Elizabeth wore a charming creation of striped silk having a bustle and all the other perquisites of old-fashionedness. She also wore a gold band ring and hair bracelet both having been ultra fashionable in their day.

Change the proverb to "Boys will be girls," and you have Bill Opsahl and Middy Bergstrand. Bill was especially dear in his outfit and he had everything too, even the rolled socks and m-m-m garters. Our personal opinion is that he'd make a mighty good looking girl. Middy was a perfect flapper of the vamp type, who during the Virginia Reel had the "funny" misfortune of slipping full length on the floor because of the too French heels, but nevertheless, undaunted, tried to vamp all the boys from Martin Senger (the kind you'd like to kiss) sailor boy, to the villainous looking Jew, Albert Rathert, who, with his cane, striped vest, black mustache, goatee and eye glasses, was a "ferce" sight indeed.

A good adjective for Vivian Gillette was "beautiful," her hair was powdered to just the right degree to make her irresistible. Oh, if only yet. Flo Ziegfeld had been here! Speaking of Steve reminds us of Dick who came as a successful gold miner of 1849, for he had a bag full of gold—saw-dust—which he generously distributed, but his clothes—were successfully ornamented with—holes. Poor Dick!

Lorraine Morrison and Ruth Perlman were belles from some southern plantation. Ruth was sweet in a yellow black lace trimmed bouffant affair with bonnet to match, while Lorraine appeared in pink with a scarf to hide the low cut V-neck in back. Another Southerner was Jeanette Jackson, who was the sole impersonator of the popular Martha Washington.

Rose Hogan could have been termed Little Brown Riding Hood and a large agate brooch that was in harmony with her costume boasted the old age of two hundred years.

Agnes Templeton was one of the few that possessed a hoop skirt and the difficulty with which she traversed the aisles of the assembly created much amusement.

Bernice White, Sophie Brending and Sylvia Gordon were the "unfortunate" possessors of bustles—ask them about it.

Some "comical" hats were worn by Myrtis Mayo, Myla Trask, Genevieve Meade, etc., each having a different type. Myrtis' hat was strictly tailored stiff and mannish with a feather or its only adornment while Myla possessed a small hat with a feather at the end of a quill resembling a five dollar bill on the top of a greased pole, while Genevieve wore one of the washtub variety, bedecked with white roses.

Delphine Winter was a perfect scream, dressed in a pleasing serge suit of a more or less ante-diluvian design with black fox muff and neckpiece. Her picture hat was, as she expressed it, "two pancakes sewed together," this piece of unique head gear making her a daring vamp. "Nuff said."

Ah—another boy would be a girl—Harry Drake—he came with golden curls, bonnet and all the other necessary paraphernalia. "Who would a thunk it?"

We bet Thomas Larkin, treasurer of the Seniors, tried to imitate King George's Secretary of the Exchequer with knee breeches and everything, but to us he was a very successful imitation of a mama's boy, one that wears those large blue bow neckties, doncha know—maybe he wore it on purpose—the blue just matched his eyes!!

Several ministers were predominant, notably Gery Schrader and Joel Philstrom and a bride's part could easily have been taken by Florence Swanson, who wore a beautiful white wedding dress of a quarter century ago, and the musketeers and pirates such as Clifford Gustafson, Owen Swanson, Wendell Burns, Francis George and Harold Hilliard would have made daring Prince Charmings. Gladys Babcock and Gertrude Link presumably owned the most antiquated of all costumes, they are indescribable, but be it known, they had everything that composes a truly old fashioned outfit.

Pantalolette honors were carried off by Mardelle Mraz and Hazel Lind. Mardelle was all in pink with a gray bonnet and her whole costume seemed to portray "fluffy ruffles." Hazel appeared in various colors in which yellow seemed to hold most sway with green parrots to perfect a harmonious whole.

The Hall sisters, Marion and Lois, par usual, came out in attire appropriate for the occasion, rare lace trimmed skirts and tight jackets being the main points of attraction.

Milton Hill was indeed noteworthy, inasmuch as he had an artificial red nose and an altogether slouchy appearance, corn cob pipe, etc. Another pipe that he held in his mouth was attached to an alarm clock which, when attacked by the vehement wind of his lungs coming through the aforesaid pipe, caused the alarm clock to emit very supernatural and mysterious sounds, causing the Seniors to go off into gales of laughter.

Senior—"Why are you hurrying so with your theme? It's class time to make her irresistible. Oh, if only yet."

Freshie—"I know it, but I'm trying to finish before my pen runs dry."

My Dog and I

I was dreamily walking down the cement avenue leading Hamiltonian, my Siberian cheeshound. Suddenly the double doors of a large edifice burst open and hundreds of children of various sizes came rushing forth.

They paid not the slightest attention to me but hurried down the street, halloing, laughing, chattering, until my ears rang. I stood undecided and then followed Hamiltonian's lead and ran pell-mell after the crowd. We arrived at another building much like the first. It was the old B. H. S. We scrambled up flights of stairs, narrowly missing, over-throwing some persons who were descending them. Finally we came to a narrow black door and as I waited for the foremost children to crowd in, I scanned the eager faces. Meanwhile I caught such words and phrases as these, "Gee, hope we win!" "Wonder if Bill is gonna play center. He's best." "Be sure and yell!" More children were arriving all the time and finally we were through the door. Hamiltonian rather resembled a pancake but a few pats restored him to his usual shape. Again we followed the crowd. We were in the gym.

I happened to glance from a window—more children were coming from all directions, running, roller-skating and on bicycles. At last we were seated. There was some confusion when my dear companion accidentally thrust his tail in the open mouth of a rather impudent child who bit it.

We were just settled when a group of youngsters, clad in abbreviated costumes rushed in and went through mysterious motions with a ball. There was much excitement and yelling from all around. I was quite up in the air about it until suddenly I remembered my trusty Annual. I had carried it with me on all my travels to remind me of my old class in B. H. S. I took one glance at it and I saw the magic word, basketball! Of course, it was the grade tournament. Then I threw myself into the spirit of the game and yelled with the rest. Once I was aroused by a poke in the ear from Hamiltonian's wet nose. He was sorrowfully gazing at a little girl who was "making faces" at the children on the other side. But my attention was again attracted to the game, for another basket had been made. When at last the games were over, we piled out of the school, making mere noise than ever and planning to be back the next night.

GYM CLASS ON DRESS UP DAY

There was a shrill blow from Miss Jorandby's whistle and the third period gym class lined up on the howling green for roll call. It was Senior dress up day and quaint old-fashioned girls with powdered hair, wide skirts, leg o' mutton sleeves, and bustles were out for their daily practice in baseball and volley ball. The sides being divided, one repaired to the net, while the other took their places on the diamond. Imagine the surprise and wonder of the passerby on perceiving these demure little maidens of '65 tripping lightly around the diamond on a home run.

And when the ball landed way off in some remote corner of the yard, the fielder, grasping her flowing skirts with one hand and her picturesque hat with the other, ran after it. The volley-ball players did not have any running to do, but batting the ball over the net took lots of strength and, consequently, the exertion knocked off many a miss's befeathered bonnet. High heels and lengthy skirts also proved to be cumbersome to the twentieth century, masqueraders. But the climax came only when our gym teacher lined us up for a march around the block. Heads appeared in all the windows and many cars stopped by the curb so the occupants might have a better view of these maids. Then the bell rang and immediately every lass showed that she was not an old-fashioned flower but a twentieth century flapper, by producing a dainty vanity box and using the contents to remove all traces of shininess.

A final intensive campaign for the sale of the remainder of the 1925 Brainonian Annual will be launched this week and the direct and immediate cooperation of every student is called upon to make this final drive a complete success. We want an annual in every home, and it is up to the students and their support in order to realize our wants. Ask any of last year's owners of a 1924 Annual whether he or she would wish to give up that one copy with no chance of obtaining a second edition. We feel certain that in offering you this year-book we are urging you to purchase an article which in years to come you will be glad

Ah—'tis over—I am glad—it still makes me shudder to think of it. Nigh a fortnight ago I was aroused from my slumber by someone who came lightly, tripping up the stairs to my abiding place, turned the key in the latch and caused the door to creak ever so slightly. My heart thumped. Perhaps now I was to be resurrected from my dungeon—to renew my days of triumph. I would see my mistress again and I should make her beautiful, as in the days of yore. I felt thrilled and expectant, the atmosphere became stifling, something was going to happen. A faint shaft of light pierced the darkness that enshrouded me and as the door was being opened wider and yet wider I found myself recovering from a moment of dazed blindness and beholding the world and—Her! She appeared so strange that I gasped and lay blinking and staring at her while she clapped her hands and exclaimed, "Hot Stuff! Isn't this the berries?" I gasped some more! I must be under some witches' power; no mortal ever spoke like that before. She took me out and held me at arm's length; meanwhile I had an opportunity to observe her more closely. I saw that the same gleam of satisfaction was in her eyes as of my old mistress when she had appeared with me for the first time; she also possessed the same mouth and hair, but where were the golden curls that had so often tumbled over my shoulders? No—yes, they had been snipped off! I nearly screamed when I saw the tragedy—and her gown, how queer—it had neither hoop, bustle, frill nor furrow, and the length! Whisper it—I saw her ankles, and—and—then I swooned.

When I came to, everything previous seemed like a nightmare, for wasn't I beside my lovely mistress again and the very same curls were again resting on my shoulder. I hear her call, "good bye" and someone replied that they hoped she'd have a good time and, "you certainly look queer." At this revelation (it rather hurt my vanity) I perked up and looked my best but before long that new, quaky feeling reappeared for we did not step into a coach drawn by four prancing milk white horses, as formerly, but into something that resembled a green covered wagon with glass windows and it ran by itself! I settled back and sighed at the strangeness of it all.

We soon arrived at our destination for my mistress got out and we walked through an immense door into a large brick building—also strange. Everywhere, to my dismay, I recognized cousins and more cousins unto the fifth and sixth generations, but nary a brother or sister. People came up and spoke to my mistress and they stared at me and fondled me until I gradually resumed my former spirits of yore old times.

I finally wearied of it all as did my mistress for when we came home she immediately sank into a chair and began to lay me aside. I must have begun seeing things again, for a woman with that horrible snipped hair appeared and pulled off—the curls of my mistress and sad but true, I again beheld—Her, with the short skirts and before I completely collapsed and expired, I heard her murmur—"Oh, mother, how could you ever stand to wear such a dress! But, nevertheless, I'm mighty glad youaved it for my Senior Dress Up Day."

Chemistry Class Again

R. E.: "Gee, it seems bright down here!"

Teacher: "Yes, the windows are washed. I thought I had lost my way and was at the wrong place when I saw them."

Monday, B. O. found a vanity case and ever since has been practicing its use for Dress-Up Day. Teacher told him he should act like a perfect lady. He declined to take off his coat as he had played baseball earlier in the day. We wonder?

GRADE SCHOOL TOURNEY ENDS WITH LOWELL AS THE PENNANT WINNER

In an exciting game last night the Lowell won from the Harrison by a score of 6 to 2. The Harrison scored first, shortly afterward the Lowell scored; the half ended 2 to 2. In the next half the Lowell opened up and scored 4 more points. The Harrison was blanked this half. The defense of both teams was excellent. For the Lowell, Purdy, Guin, and Zawadski played the best game; for the Harrison, Fenton and Sator starred.

The Line-up
Guin f. Fenton
Zawadski f. Houtala, Capt.
Purdy, Capt. c. Sator
Stanley g. Hanson
Savageau g. Hay
Field goals—Fenton 1; Purdy 1; Zawadski 1.
Free throws—Guin 2.

The Lincoln took the first game of the tournament from the Washington by a score of 7-5. The game was rather slow as neither team was in form. The feature of the game was the fast playing and the teamwork of the two Lincoln forwards.

In the second game of the tournament the Whittier beat the Harrison 4-3. This game was fast throughout, but the Harrison was unable to get started. This was the first game that the Harrison lost and came as a bitter pill to them.

For the third game of the tournament the Lowell walked away with Washington to the tune of 13-2. The Lowell was far superior and played all around the Washington. The lanky Lowell players completely smothered the Washington, taking the tip-off every time.

The Lincoln met defeat at the hands of the Harrison. The Harrison, with a partly changed line-up, was stronger than the previous night and did not give the Lincoln a chance.

The Lowell again walked off with a victory, this time from the Whittier, 23-7. The Whittier was handicapped with their small players getting but few chances to shoot.

Playing the second game in succession the Lowell met defeat at the hands of the Harrison, 18-6. The Lowell players were tired out from the previous game and were not given a fair chance. At the first half the score was 8-2 in favor of the Harrison. In the second half after the Lowell had had a rest they came back and scored two baskets and held the Harrison.

In one of the fastest games of the tournament the Whittier defeated the Washington, 5-4. At the end of the first half the score was 4-0 in favor of the Washington. In the last half the Whittier came back and scored five points and held the Washington scoreless.

In the eighth game of the tournament the Lowell walked away with the Lincoln, 14-2. In the first and last quarters the Lincoln completely outplayed the Lowell but were unable to count many baskets due to the size of the Lowell players.

In a one-sided affair the Harrison defeated the Washington to the tune of 14-4. The Harrison was far superior in teamwork and accurate shooting, the Washington at no time threatening the game.

In the last scheduled game of the tournament the Lincoln defeated the Whittier.

Below is the summary of the tournament:

	G.P.	G.L.	Pct.
Lowell	4	1	.750
Harrison	4	1	.750
Lincoln	4	2	.500
Whittier	4	2	.500

FIRST BASEBALL GAME OF SEASON

At the N. P. ball grounds an unscheduled game of baseball was played between some high school girls and a team of boys from all over the city.

In the first inning the score stood 6 to 0 in the girls' favor. The boys seemed to be a little afraid of Turner's balls, but in the second inning they calmed themselves and made 2 scores while the girls didn't make any. In the third inning Turner fanned out three in succession and the girls made two more scores, making the final score 8 to 2. The boys are practicing hard and don't intend to let the girls' beat them again.

Baseball

Brainerd High School officially opened its baseball season last Tuesday night, when Coach Krueger issued the call for candidates.

Among the veterans who answered the call were Engbretson, Rosenberg, Larson, Whitlock and Swanson, and no doubt Lyndon will report as soon as he has recovered from his illness. Among the new candidates who show promise of development are Marshall, Orth, Gabouri, Gile, Philstrom and Tribur, and from all indications the veterans of last year's nine will have to work hard to keep their positions on the team this season.

Having lost the regular pitchers, Zakariasen and Molstad, through graduation, Coach Krueger is confronted by the problem of developing new hurlers, which is far from being an easy task, since Van Walk, the only experienced pitcher available, has not as yet reported. Engbretson and Whitlock, however, show promise of developing into good moundmen as soon as they have had opportunity to acquire experience through practice.

The catching end is well taken care of by Larson, with Dieckhaus in reserve.

Swanson on third base and Rosenberg at short-stop show plenty of class and opposing teams will find it hard to hit through that side of the diamond. The out-field ought to cause little trouble, as several of the new recruits have shown their worth in chasing fly-balls.

On the whole, the team shows much promise and should have a successful season if the school and public give them the necessary support.

Our Assembly

Vacation is over. The studies are renewed by the refreshed, studious pupils.

On entering the building last Monday the students discovered that the painters had been hard at work. The new steel ceiling in the assembly was all painted, the walls were refinished in a new grey outfit, and the floors, the floors were scrubbed white as snow. This lovely Easter outfit of the assembly helped brighten up everything with the aid of the removing of the storm windows.

The windows are open and the real spring atmosphere prevails over all.

Mr. J.: "Katherine, what is aluminum hydroxide?"
Bill O.: "Opaque."

Mr. J.: "If you don't keep quiet! You ought to get down to the end of the hall and get some training along with the others. (Normal school, of course.)"

American Legion Corner

Many American Legion posts in Minnesota are prospective entrants in the band and bugle corps contests to be staged at the department convention to be staged at Thief River Falls next August. Rules have been formulated by the contest committee, of which J. C. Sullivan is chairman. The Carl Sydney Hanson post of Brainerd should prepare to participate in these contests in years to come.

Minnesota Legionnaires are out to raise $240,000. The funds will become part of the five million dollars endowment fund being raised throughout the nation as a trust fund for war orphans and disabled men who are not eligible for government aid.

The keynote for the Minnesota Legion campaign was sounded by National Commander "Jim" Drain at the Annual Spring Conference of Legion and Auxiliary members. Commander Drain spoke at the afternoon session April 4 and at a banquet which was held at night. The sessions were staged at the Curtis Hotel, Minneapolis.

"There have been campaigns and campaigns," Commander Drain said, addressing the Saturday night assembly of 600 Legion workers. "There have been so many campaigns for money that some of us are doubtful as to the desirability of contributing further, although America never has been known to hesitate to aid the suffering and the needy."

"This campaign, however, involves a duty. It is the duty of everyone living in the United States of America, and of every American sojourning abroad, to protect the men who protected us in time of national crisis. If this is true, then it is obvious that it is also our duty—our first consideration—to protect the children of the men who died for us. Thousands of Americans gave their lives in the World War that America might remain a happy and prosperous nation. Thousands more returned home maimed and bereft of all those things which make life dear to most of us. We are here safe and sound tonight because of their sacrifice."

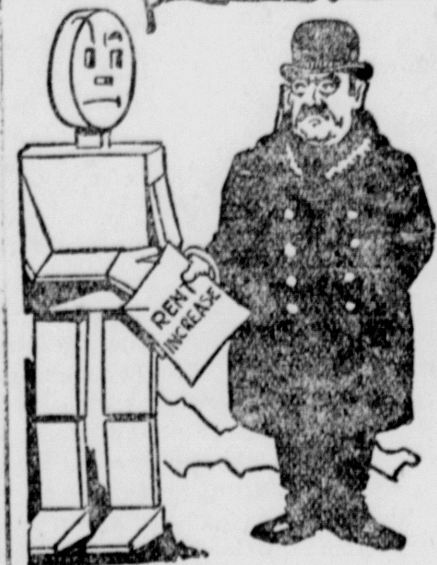

"We are about to subscribe, and to ask the public to help subscribe, five millions of dollars to aid these maimed comrades of ours and to care for the children of men who made the supreme sacrifice. Can there be any doubt as to America's answer? America always has responded, but America never has been asked to respond to a call more sacred, an appeal more urgent, than this. These children—35,000, of whom 5,000 are in immediate need of our care—must be given the birthright of every American-born citizen. They must be reared as those men who died in France would have them reared. They must be given a square deal. It is up to the American Legion, and to the American people through the Legion to see to it that they have a square deal. I am confident of success. The heart of America is surety."

Just My Age

My aids to youth, which made the difference, are at your command

By Edna Wallace Hopper

The lady whose photograph I print with mine is about my age. But I had the advantage of scientific aids.

From early girlhood I have searched the world to get them. I spent in all nine years in France. Those helps made me a famous beauty. Now, at this lady's age, I retain my contours, my complexion. My hair is as fine and colorful as 40 years ago. I look like a girl, and live and play a girl's part today.

Now I offer those same helps to all who wish to use them. Toilet counters everywhere supply them. And any girl or woman who asks me will receive a trial free. They form, I believe, the greatest beauty aids in existence.

My Youth Cream

Is a remarkable creation, combining many factors. It contains products of both lemon and strawberry. Also the best helps science gave me to foster and protect the skin.

It comes in two types—cold cream and vanishing. I use it as a night cream, also daytime as a powder base. Never is my skin without it. My velvet complexion shows what that cream can do. The cost is 60c per jar. Also in 35c tubes.

My Facial Youth

Is a liquid cleanser I owe to France. Great beauty experts the world over now advise this formula, but their price is too high for most women.

It contains no animal, no vegetable fat. The skin cannot absorb it. So it cleans to the depths, and then departs. My Facial Youth will bring you new conceptions of what a clean skin means. The cost is 75c.

White Youth Clay

A new-type clay, white, refined and dainty. Vastly different from the crude and muddy clays so many have employed.

It purges the skin of all that globs and mars it. Removes the causes of blackheads and blemishes. Brings a rosy afterglow which amazes and delights. Combats lines and wrinkles; reduces enlarged pores.

No girl or woman can afford to omit it. It multiplies beauty. White Youth Clay costs 50c and $1.

My Hair Youth

The cause of my luxuriant hair, thick and silky, finer far than 40 years ago. I have never had falling hair, dandruff or a touch of gray. A concentrated product combining many ingredients. I apply it with an eyedropper directly to the scalp to tone and stimulate. No man or woman will omit it when they see what Hair Youth does. The cost is 50c and $1 with eyedropper.

My Face Powders

These are supreme creations. No face powders you have used can compare. Mine are exquisite. They come in two types. One a heavy, clinging, cold cream powder, in square box, $1. I like that best. The other is light and fluffy, in round box, 50c.

All toilet counters supply my beauty helps. Send the coupon and I will mail you a sample of any one you choose. Also my Beauty Book.

ELKS KERMESS IS OPENED TONIGHT

Grand Parade Led by Brainerd Boys
Band Inaugurates the Five Day
Festival of Elks Lodge

MEXICAN ATMOSPHERE

Scenery Decorating Elks Quarters is Redolent of the Republic to South of Us

Tonight is opening night, 7:30 o'clock, of the Elks five-day Kermess. In an atmosphere redolent of Old Mexico, one will see the many attractions staged for this Kermess.

But first the parade! At 7 o'clock sharp this evening the Brainerd Boys band will lead the cavalcade, followed by fifty or more Captains attired as Mexican terrors, 70 or more Lady Elks wearing their charming Mexican senorita costumes, then the large delegation of Range Elks, followed by Elks delegations from Little Falls, St. Cloud and many other points. St. Cloud is especially interested, as they plan on duplicating Brainerd's Kermess.

April 14 to April 18 are the dates which will mark the commencement and closing of the greatest entertainment enterprise ever sponsored by the Brainerd Elks lodge. The local Elks have planned to make this the greatest joyfest ever held in this city and an intensive ticket sale has penetrated as far north as Idaho, south to Florida and east to New York. Absent members have responded in hearty fashion, setting a glowing example for the at-home Elks.

"Your Money Back at the Door" is a most powerful selling talk which the ticket vendors have offered and this is an actual fact. The coupon on each ticket states that it is redeemable at the El Presidio Bank and good for 500 simoleons, which is good for 50 cents in buying power at the Kermess.

Refreshments, merchandise or entertainment concessions will honor the Elks Kermess currency, so each visitor to the Kermess will get 50 cents in trade on each ticket.

The entertainment itself will be one of the most unique ever staged by this city and the Elks home has been specially prepared to house the spectacle. A decidedly Mexican atmosphere permeates the whole Kermess. Idaho Slim, one of the greatest scenic painters, has just let his brush run riot in color and phantasy. Every phase of Mexican life has been faithfully delineated. Idaho Slim spent years down in Old Mexico and knows Villa intimately and has hobnobbed with presidents and chieftains. It will be well worth the price of admission just to view the art tone given the Kermess.

Elks have been patiently trained in their duties. W. A. Kelly and are now considered proficient. A colored troupe of entertainers will give a continuous performance in the main coliseum. The Arcadian orchestra will play for the jitzney dance.

The El Presidio bank will be presided over by a real banker Elk and it will be amply supplied with funds to take care of the thousands who will need Elks' currency. Many barrels of root beer and sundry refreshments will be served from the Mexican bar and dance patrons will be well cared for at the dance hall.

Blankets, granite ware, aluminum ware, candies, dolls, toilet articles, and many other things will be sold at various places through the Elks home at bargain prices.

"It's All For Fun," and "Fun For All" is the slogan. The big aim behind the whole project is to raise money for the Elks state convention fund which now gives assurance of entertaining the biggest convention in the history of Brainerd and all State Elksdom.

The Northern Pacific railway is making provision for parking special trains in the yards. Thousands will motor here. A group of Chicago men will have the distinction of flying to the Brainerd convention.

Captain William H. Fawcett is entering heart and soul in the great convention and will see that the Lakes Day of the convention compares favorably with the first two days of wonderful entertainment offered in Brainerd.

Attend the Kermess and help the Elks with their state convention plans.

Peoples Congregational Aid
The ladies aid of the Peoples Congregational church will meet in the church parlors on Wednesday afternoon April 15 entertained by a committee of ladies. All members and friends of the aid are asked to be present.

BASEBALL LEADERS LOOK FOR A BIG YEAR

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, April 14.—Perhaps this day could not be recorded for history amply and officially without bringing out the traditional rubber-stamp for the notation—"King Baseball returned to the throne."

The 1925 baseball season opens today in the major leagues and the American Association and the International League starts tomorrow.

Baseball club owners are in an established business that does not need much hurrah exploitation, but they are willing to talk in the terms of the circus billboard poster—"Bigger and Better than Ever"—when they discuss the prospects for this new season.

All of the major league clubs did not make money last season. Some of them lost money, but there were reasons and those reasons always will have the same effect upon clubs that are down in the race.

"It has become almost a habit with the officials who have been in the game for another year to be optimistic in the spring when we arrive at the opening of the season," John H. Heydler, president of the National League, said today.

"We have seen the game grow and become so firmly established in the affection of the public that we do not figure when the season starts—will it be a success?"—but we look for reasons why it should not be a success. We find no reason this year to have any doubts that baseball has the same popularity as it has been having. It is true that incidents have happened in the past that might have been harmful to the future of the game, but we believe those very incidents have made the game all the more secure, because drastic action always has been taken to correct any bad influences that might have been a menace.

"There seems to be an opinion that the New York Giants are a cinch to win the pennant. I believe myself that the Giants are a powerful, well-organized and well-directed club, but I do not agree that no other team in our league has a chance for the pennant. I believe the Pittsburgh Pirates, the Brooklyn Robins, the Chicago Cubs and the Cincinnati Reds are to be ranked as possibilities. We have so many examples in the past to show that most anything can happen to wreck a powerful club and inspire one that is comparatively inferior.

"From a box-office standpoint much depends upon the weather during the early season and at the best it is always a gamble. The weather is also an important physical factor in deciding the leaders during the early season."

Ban Johnson, president of the American League, looks for a very successful season in his organization.

"The success of the Washington Senators last season was a great boom for baseball an dthe attempt of the world's champions again to overcome strong opposition in the way of another pennant will make the season most interesting.

"Most of the critics who have visited the southern training camps returned with the opinion that the American League race is to be an open one and that most anything can happen. I believe myself that four clubs are standing for the opinion and I have other reasons that it would not be proper to withhold an opinion on the winner."

SISLER HAS HIGH HOPES FOR BROWNS IN COMING RACE

By GEORGE SISLER

St. Louis, April 14.—The Browns hope to do better than they did last season. We are not claiming the American league pennant, but we will dispute the claims of others during the season.

I believe we have a more efficient team than we had last season. Although we lost Shocker, a great pitcher, we secured Joe Bush in his place and Bush will be a most valuable man, not only because he has a lot of pitching left in him but because he is a most valuable reserve man for his hitting.

There were certain influences on the team last year that reduced the morale, but they have been corrected and I believe we will work in better harmony this season. It is going to be a hard race for the team that wins the pennant and we feel sure that we are going to be very much in it.—St. Paul Daily News.

100,000 Readers Await Filming of Curwood's "The Hunted Woman"

It is estimated that more than one hundred thousand readers look forward each year to the annual novel by James Oliver Curwood. Now comes the announcement that William Fox has adapted for the screen Curwood's "The Hunted Woman," a dramatic narrative of the great outdoors, done in that author's rugged style.

The cast includes Seena Owen, Cyril Chadwick, Francis McDonald and Diana Miller. The Lyceum Theatre will show this drama of the great outdoors for two days, starting Thursday.

Why Roberts Quit the Stage to Play in Motion Pictures

Theodore Roberts prefers roses to railroad tickets! That is one of the reasons he gave up the stage ten years ago and entered motion pictures as one of the pioneers at the Lasky studio.

"Every actor hopes that some day he will be able to give friends his home address," said the veteran actor who, after a year's absence, returns to the screen in William de Mille's production of "Locked Doors," at the New Park tonight and Wednesday.

"An actor who lives 'from town to town' finds a home address impossible.

"I believe that every young actor should 'road show' but after a decade or two of that life he begins to long for a regular stopping place.

"That is what motion pictures have done for the actor—they have given him a regular home address. Instead of traveling from town to town he now has his breakfasts at home, works at the studios during the day and spends the early evening hours in his garden."

"The Siren of Seville" Shows Priscilla Dean as Fiery, Dashing Idol of Spain

Priscilla Dean, whose latest starring vehicle, "The Siren of Seville," is now being shown at the Lyceum Theatre, has been called by a world-famous critic "one of but six real actresses in the silent dramatic field." Her remarkable transitions from seductive femininity to tigerish fierceness and fighting action and her amazing versatility have made her the screen's prototype of feminine fighting courage.

BASEBALL LEADERS LOOK FOR A BIG YEAR

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, April 14.—Perhaps this day could not be recorded for history amply and officially without bringing out the traditional rubber-stamp for the notation—"King Baseball returned to the throne."

The 1925 baseball season opens today in the major leagues and the American Association and the International League starts tomorrow.

Baseball club owners are in an established business that does not need much hurrah exploitation, but they are willing to talk in the terms of the circus billboard poster—"Bigger and Better than Ever"—when they discuss the prospects for this new season.

All of the major league clubs did not make money last season. Some of them lost money, but there were reasons and those reasons always will have the same effect upon clubs that are down in the race.

"It has become almost a habit with the officials who have been in the game for another year to be optimistic in the spring when we arrive at the opening of the season," John H. Heydler, president of the National League, said today.

"We have seen the game grow and become so firmly established in the affection of the public that we do not figure when the season starts—"will it be a success?"—but we look for reasons why it should not be a success. We find no reason this year to have any doubts that baseball has the same popularity as it has been having. It is true that incidents have happened in the past that might have been harmful to the future of the game, but we believe those very incidents have made the game all the more secure, because drastic action always has been taken to correct any bad influences that might have been a menace.

"There seems to be an opinion that the New York Giants are a cinch to win the pennant. I believe myself that the Giants are a powerful, well-organized and well-directed club, but I do not agree that no other team in our league has a chance for the pennant. I believe the Pittsburgh Pirates, the Brooklyn Robins, the Chicago Cubs and the Cincinnati Reds are to be ranked as possibilities. We have so many examples in the past to show that most anything can happen to wreck a powerful club and inspire one that is comparatively inferior.

"From a box-office standpoint much depends upon the weather during the early season and at the best it is always a gamble. The weather is also an important physical factor in deciding the leaders during the early season."

Ban Johnson, president of the American League, looks for a very successful season in his organization.

"The success of the Washington Senators last season was a great boom for baseball and the attempt of the world's champions again to overcome strong opposition in the way of another pennant will make the season most interesting.

"Most of the critics who have visited the southern training camps returned with the opinion that the American League race is to be an open one and that most anything can happen. I believe myself that four clubs are standing for the opinion and I have other reasons that it would not be proper to withhold an opinion on the winner."
